Overview

Michael Stefanilo Jr. routinely handles employment law matters on behalf of both private and public employers in the litigation and counseling spheres. He also regularly litigates claims in the area of employment practices liability insurance (EPLI). Michael practices in both federal and state court, and frequently before the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination and other state and federal agencies. He also conducts internal investigations.

As a litigator, Michael has handled hundreds of cases on behalf of his clients with a distinguished record of success. He has extensive experience defending against workplace and public accommodation discrimination, harassment, retaliation, hostile work environment, and sexual assault claims, including those based on sex, gender, race, color, religion, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, and gender identity. On top of his litigation skills, Michael acts as an investigator for employers in instances of alleged discrimination or harassment.

Michael is also a highly knowledgeable wage and hour litigator. He further handles complex employment litigation claims alleging wrongful termination, whistleblower, and breach of contract. He has defended against class actions and has negotiated several settlements arising out of class action litigation.

Finally, Michael zealously represents public and private employers and educational institutions in claims brought pursuant to the Massachusetts Tort Claims Act, the Massachusetts and United States Civil Rights Acts, Title IX, and the Massachusetts and United States Anti-Discrimination Statutes.

Not only a litigator, Michael is also a recognized legal scholar and has been published in the Northeastern University Law Review, the Sports Lawyers Journal, the Tulane Journal of Law & Sexuality, various American Bar Association and Federal Bar Association publications, and is a long-standing contributing author to Massachusetts Continuing Legal Education (MCLE). Presently, Michael is serving a multi-year term as a hearing officer for the Massachusetts Board of Bar Overseers of the Supreme Judicial Court. He was also appointed by the President of the Massachusetts Bar Association to serve on its Labor and Employment Section Council. In 2022, Michael was awarded the prestigious honor of being named one of the Best LGBTQ+ Attorneys in the United States by the National LGBTQ+ Bar Association. In 2025, he was recognized by Massachusetts Lawyers Weekly as one of its Lawyers of the Year for 2024.

Prior to joining Littler, Michael was a partner with a full-service Boston area litigation firm. Previously, Michael worked as a law clerk for GLAD Law, where he assisted in analyzing various legal issues facing the LGBTQ+ community, including participation in GLAD's successful and nationally recognized challenge to the Defense of Marriage Act. He also spent a summer clerking for the United States Attorney's Office for the District of Massachusetts in its civil litigation division.

While in law school, Michael served as the managing editor of the Northeastern University Law Review and was a teaching assistant for the Legal Research and Writing Program.
