Overview

Since May 2024, Patricia Dasch has been part of Littler Austria, where she advises clients on individual employment law matters, supports termination processes, and facilitates out-of-court settlements. With extensive experience in employment law through multijurisdictional projects and advisory services, she brings a well-rounded perspective to her practice. Her work with the Institute for Corporate and Business Law at the University of Vienna further enhances her comprehensive understanding of the needs of both corporate clients and employees on a national and international level.
