Overview

Stephen Shore is a skilled advocate whose practice is focused on the representation of management in many areas of employment and labour law. He places a particular emphasis on applications for certification, collective bargaining, grievance arbitration, Ontario Labour Relations Board proceedings, human rights, wrongful and constructive dismissal litigation and employment and labour issues in corporate restructuring and transactions. Stephen represents employers in litigation related to dismissals and in proceedings before the Ontario Labour Relations Board.

He is an adjunct lecturer at the University of Toronto Faculty of Law and a member of the Human Resources Committee of UJA Federation of Greater Ontario.

Stephen regularly writes for a variety of employment and labour law publications and speaks on related topics.
