Overview

Peter Pham is Counsel on the Class Action Counsel team and is based in Arizona. As a brief writer assigned to class, collective, mass, and representative actions, Peter formulates and executes briefing strategy, including the development of cutting-edge arguments, and thought leadership on the most pressing class action and PAGA issues confronting our clients. He evaluates and selects legal authority that supports the facts and circumstances of each case and prepares substantive briefs and motions, including complex dispositive motions, opposition to class certification, motions to compel arbitration, mediation briefs, and other strategic briefing.

Prior to joining Littler in 2017, Peter worked at several multinational law firms focusing on labor and employment and intellectual property litigation in Los Angeles, California. His litigation experience spans case inception through jury verdict. He has extensive experience representing employers before administrative agencies and state and federal courts. He has successfully litigated both single plaintiff and class actions involving wage and hour, discrimination and harassment claims arising under state and federal laws.

During law school, he served as a senior editor of the UCLA Law Review, as well as a faculty research assistant.

**Not licensed to practice law in Arizona.*
